WEDNESDAY MAY 20, 1908

Mr. Johnson of Minnesota, who aspires to be a Presidential candidate, better appreciate now that Hawaii is on the map.

The anti-Thwing petition does not lack for the names of men whose understanding of community problems is as keen as that of Thwing's martyrs.

Of course the Hawaii will win. All she needs for speed is to be rigged and sailed as directed by her designer and the man who is to sail in the race.

Having fathered a new deal, the reorganized Fleet Committee will be due to leave town if it does not produce results a hundred per cent. more rapidly than its predecessor.

When the tariff is so revised that there is a discrimination in favor of the cargoes carried in American ships the return of the American flag to command of the sea will be started.

While Hawaii was waiting and the Pacific Coast asleep, the Bulletin put the cables that furnished the needed definite information to secure action in the Trans-Pacific Yacht Race.

If the newspaper people of Southern California were treated to a haul over which Dr. Emerson could preside, it should be possible to arrange nothing for the Fleet that George Ter can sanction.

There can be no harm in giving the city of Honolulu all the spectacular effect of the combined Fleet's presence. After that, they could indulge in all the cooling experiments they see fit to make.

A million and a half dollars for the American exhibit at Tokio is half what the country is spending on the improvement of Pearl Harbor. By comparison the latter can never be classed as a war measure.

Give the men of the Fleet a luncheon with expurgated hullas. That will keep them away from vulgar misrepresentation made attractive by the claim that the old life of Hawaii can only be exhibited behind closed doors.

Honolulu will be performing a public duty when convincing people of the other islands that they should come to see the Atlantic Fleet. It is the event of a lifetime and an education in what the future has in store for Hawaii.

A man who reads one of Richmond Pearson Hobson's articles and then deliberates on the inaction of Congress is lost between two opinions. Either he should go buy a gun, or run and hide, for the enemy is upon him and the defense nil.

Eastern papers will take the accident at Eureka as another proof that the Fleet's trip to the Pacific was a great mistake. All the strap-hangers in New York will know that death and disaster have followed in the wake of the big ships.

Hawaii has witnessed another bloodless revolution in the transfer of Fleet Committee authority. Fortunately for the peace of the town, the ones relinquishing honors are happier than those assuming the burden and heat of the day.

A man on Fort street who exhibited an injured hand while asking for five cents was a good subject for the committee on "causes and cure of pauperism in Hawaii" to begin on. Members of the committee, like policemen, are never around when needed.

When interest rates go down you may know that the men who are making their money in Hawaii have brought it to the banks of Hawaii to be used for the benefit of Hawaii. Until that time comes it is safe to gamble that other communities are getting the benefit of what, by right, belongs to Hawaii.

"But the liquor has the most se-

ry is not possible.
The community is not ready to take the half-ed estimate of the police department which the Organ offers. Such fulsome praise is a natural cause for suspicion.
When the fault-finding disposition of the Organ finds its only vent in an excuse of the police by criticism of the County Attorney, it is a mighty good indication that the police need defense.
The Organ, appreciating the shortcomings of its agents, must needs create a dust of criticism to distract attention.
The whole business is transparent and extremely flat.

OUR YACHT HAWAII.

The possibility that the Trans-Pacific Yacht Race may finish during the final days of the Atlantic Fleet's stay in port promises a happy combination of events which is balm for the irritation resulting from the inability of Pacific Coast yachts to start on Kamehameha Day.

With three yachts from the Coast entered, there is no doubt of the course to be followed by the Hawaii Yacht Club. Our yacht should be put in condition as speedily as possible and sent out to win the race—which should be easily done.

The experience Honolulu has had in connection with this yacht race has not been free from some disappointing features. The yacht has cost more than expected and the race has not been pulled off in the one-two-three order that arouses enthusiasm and keeps it to the proper pitch. But the value to the community of performing a task of this character and carrying it through to success in spite of obstacles, cannot be overestimated.

It pays to do things. The yacht at twice the original price is a good investment for the Territory of Hawaii and particularly the people of Honolulu, who have been the prime movers in building and equipping the craft.

Something has been gained when the little city of Honolulu, in the midst of the Pacific, can set the pace for the Pacific Coast. Having done it once, we will do it again.

Hawaii's representative vessel is one of which every man, woman and child should be proud, and especially so when the Nation's great Fleet of defense is in port.

The Sheriff stated that he had not yet decided what action to take in regard to the petitions, but that he had the matter under consideration at present. It is, however, most improbable that he will give the petitioners a favorable answer.

After being missing six months, John Peter Helms, a wealthy New Yorker, has been found dead in the reservoir at Central Park. His disappearance was attended by demands for a $1,000 ransom, with threats of death if it was not paid.

One of the subjects to come before the international telegraphic conference which opened in Lisbon is a new method of counting messages by adopting a uniform word of five letters or figures.

The Fleet is coming. Let us clean up the City.

WAS TAKEN SICK FROM CATCHING COLD PE-RU-NA RELIEVED.

MISS ERNESTINE BOUVARD, Duck Lake, Saskatchewan, Can., writes:
"At the close of 1903 I took sick as the result of catching cold. I became very weak and could not do anything.
"I consulted a doctor, who had me take various kinds of medicine, but I did not find any relief from my suffering. At the advice of a friend, I wrote to you and you advised me.
"After I had taken two bottles of Peruna there was noticeable improvement. I combined the use of Peruna, Manalin and Laeupia and after taking several bottles of each I find myself entirely cured.

"I can certify that it was through your medicines that I recovered my health. I advise every one who is similarly afflicted to obtain Dr. Hartman's advice and be benefited."

Mrs. Wilda Moores, R. F. D. No. 1, Lents, Oregon, U. S. A., writes:
"For the past four years I was a wretched woman, suffering with severe backaches and other pains, leaving me so weak and weary that it was only with difficulty that I was able to attend to my household duties.
"I used different remedies, but found no relief until I had tried Peruna.

"Within two weeks there was a change for the better, and in less than three months I was a well and happy woman.

"All the praise is due to Peruna." Peruna is not a local remedy, but an internal systemic remedy. It will relieve catarrh in its most obstinate form.

the objection. Breckons and Kinney both leaped to their feet. The latter took issue with the Judge regarding the construction to be taken from cases that were referred to, and wanted the Judge to explain whether or not his decision was based on this certain construction.

"If the Court please," began Mr. Breckons.

"I will not be interrupted by my worthy friend in that manner," said Kinney, somewhat heatedly. And the Court ruled that he had the floor. A few minutes later Breckons and Kinney spit fire at each other. Breckons asked the Court to discharge the jurors not on that particular case, Kinney said he didn't like the discourtesy of his worthy opponent.

"The rest of the jury is excused until Monday," ruled the Court. Whereupon Breckons was highly elated, and forthwith marched out to get the evidence which was in dispute and bring it into court. The case will probably be tried considerably speedier from now on than it has in the past, although the lawyers on each side are fighting hard, and disputing every possible point.

Breckons has thirteen counts on which he can prosecute Koki.
